1946 in poetry - Wikipedia

"Cities were always like people, showing their varying personalities to the traveler. Depending on the city and on the traveler, there might begin a mutual love, or dislike, friendship, or enmity. Where one city will rise a certain individual to glory, it will destroy another who is not suited to its personality.

N. Scott Momaday's Angle of Geese (1974), James Welch's Riding the Earthboy 40 (1971), and Louise Erdrich's Jacklight (1984) are all highly sophisticated in image, allusion, and technique and unquestionably represent some of the best contemporary Plains poetry. Emma LaRoche is probably the best known of the contemporary Native Canadian poets, while Paula Gunn Allen, Linda Hogan, and Elizabeth Cook-Lynn are among the best known on the U.S. side.
